Oooooooooo Numb. 6496.

The Daily Courant.

Thurſday, Auguſt 16. 1722.

THE following Addreſs has been preſented to His Majeſty by Joſeph Gaſcoigne, Eſq; Member of Parliament for the Borough of Wareham, introduced by the Right Honourable Robert Walpole, Eſq; First Lord of the Treaſury, &c.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,
The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Capital Burgeſſes, Aſſiſtants, and Freeholders of your Majeſty's ancient Borough of Wareham.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, out of a true Senſe of the many great and invaluable Bleſſings we enjoy under your moſt mild and gracious Adminiſtration, beg Leave to declare our utmoſt Abhorrence and Deteſtation of thoſe villanous Deſigns that are carrying on againſt your Royal Perſon and Government, and to aſſure your Majeſty, that we are ſincerely and heartily reſolved to ſacrifice all that is dear to us in the Defence of your juſt and legal Title to the Crown of theſe Realms, and the Settlement of it in your moſt illuſtrious Family, being fully ſatisfied, that ſhould this happy Eſtabliſhment be ſet aſide, Popery and Slavery muſt inevitably be our Fate.

That Perſons bred up in the Romiſh Religion ſhould endeavour to dethrone a Proteſtant Prince, and ſet up a Popiſh Pretender in his Room, is not much to be wondred at; but that any who call themſelves Proteſtants ſhould join with them in this unnatural Attempt, this is unaccountable, 'tis ſhocking. They may flatter themſelves perhaps, that they ſhall enjoy a great Share of the Pretender's Favour, nay, and their Religion and Liberties too, for the Aſſiſtance they ſhall give him on this Occaſion; but we wiſh they would conſider how Queen Mary requited the Gentlemen of Suffolk who ſat the Crown on her Head; nay, that a Popiſh Prince is obliged on Pain of Damnation to extirpate, if poſſible, the Northern Hereſy.

May that good Providence that has ſo often and ſo viſibly appeared in the Defence and Protection of this Church and Nation, preſerve and defend your ſacred Majeſty, and all your Royal Family, from the dark and malicious Contrivances of all your Enemies; and that it would pleaſe Almighty God to grant you a long, peaceable, and happy Reign over us, is the ſincere and hearty Prayer of,

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,
Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects.

London, Auguſt 16.

Yeſterday arrived a Mail from France.

Lisbon, July 16. A Maſter of a Veſſel newly arrived from Cadiz reports, that the Spaniſh Squadron has lately attacked ſome Algerine Ships that were together a cruizing, and had taken one of 60 Guns, and put the Crew in Irons. The King has granted Letters Patents dated the 26th of May laſt to the Royal Monaſtery of Villa de Batalha, to hold a free Fair every Wedneſday in the Year. Father Franciſco Leitaon-Ferreira delivered laſt Month to the Secretary of the Portugueze Royal Accademy of Hiſtory, an Apologetical Diſſertation of the firſt Council of Bragança, which ſome Criticks looked upon hitherto to be Apocryphical.

Hambourg, Aug. 14. The King of Denmark has cauſed the following Conditions to be made publick in favour of the Reformed Refugees, as well thoſe of France as of the Palatinate and elſewhere, who are willing to ſettle in Jutland.

I. The King grants them free Exerciſe of their Religion, and 300 Rixdollars a Year for 10 Years, for Maintenance of their Paſtor.

II. They ſhall have a Judge of their own, whom they ſhall chuſe from among themſelves.

III. As Jutland affords Lands proper for planting Tobacco, ſowing Hemp, Flax, and Grain of all kinds, and that 20 Colonies in the whole may be formed in ſeveral Places; theſe Lands ſhall not only be given to them Gratis, but Ground alſo to build Houſes with Gardens, for which Purpoſe Materials ſhall be delivered to them upon reaſonable Terms: And beſides this Donative, they ſhall be free from all Taxes for the Space of 20 Years to come.

IV. And [illegible] they may be the more enabled to build themſelves Houſes, they ſhall be further allowed at the beginning, three Years freedom from Taxes, although they live during that time in hired Houſes.

V. Neither they nor their Children, ſhall ever be forced into the Military Service.

VI. The Manufacturers of Woollen and Silk ſhall have liberty to bring with them a certain Quantity of Manufactures with their Goods without paying any Cuſtoms Inwards, in order by that Means to be the more enabled to ſubſiſt in the Beginning: Beſides this, they ſhall have liberty to import from foreign Countries for the Space of one Year, Wool, and Silk ſpun, without paying any Cuſtoms Inwards; on Condition that ſuch Wool and Silk be uſed in their Manufactures and ſhall not be ſold to others.

VII. The Tobacco-Planters ſhall have liberty to tranſport that Commodity for 20 Years to all Parts of Denmark and Norway Cuſtom-free; provided they produce authentick Certificates that ſuch Tobacco was of the Growth of Jutland.

VIII. The new Colonies ſhall not only have an Agent at the Daniſh Court to take Care of their Intereſt near the King, but his Majeſty will always continue a Frenchman to be Commiſſary at Frederickſtadt, to whom Letters ſhall be ſent Poſt-free as far as Hambourg: And he ſhall inform them more amply of the Advantages they may gain by the Introduction of Manufactures over and above what is already ſpecified in Article III. The Direction of their Letters ſhall be, To the King of Denmark's French Commiſſary at Frederickſtadt.

Paris, Aug. 22. On the 15th Inſtant, the King, accompanied by the Duke of Orleans, Duke of Chartres, Duke of Bourbon, Count of Clermont, Duke of Charoſt, and the Biſhop of Frejus, preceeded by the City Guards, the Hundred Swiſs with their Colours diſplay'd, and the Marquiſs de Courtenvaux their Captain at their Head, with the Guards du Corps marching by the Coach Sides, went to the Pariſh Church at Verſailles, and was received at the great Door by M. Bailly, Curate of the Pariſh, at the Head of his Clergy. As ſoon as the King, with the Mace-Bearers going before him, was come to his Desk, the Cardinal de Rohan, Great Almoner of France, began the Maſs, during which his Majeſty received the Sacrament with a Piety and Attention worthy the eldeſt Son of the Church: The Corners of the Communion Cloth towards the King were held up by the Duke of Orleans and Duke of Chartres, and thoſe on the Alter Side by the Abbés de Pezé and de Proulay, his Majesty's Almoners in waiting: After the Communion his Majesty heard another Mass. In the Afternoon, his Majesty, accompanied by the Duke Regent, Duke of Chartres, Duke of Bourbon, Count of Clermont, Duke of Charost, and the old Bishop of Frejus, heard Vespers in the Royal Chapel at Versailles, and assisted afterwards at the Procession that was made in the Court of the Castle. M. D'Argenson, Lieutenant General of Police, caused all the Commissaries of this City to appear before him some Days ago, and gave them Orders to enquire, each in his particular District, strictly after all Military Officers, whether in private Lodgings, Inns, or other Places, and to signify to them in the King's Name, to repair instantly to their Posts, as they will answer the contrary at their Peril; since which, most of the Officers are already set out, and others are going daily to their Regiments. The Ministry are employed in framing an entire Re establishment of the India Company, and 'tis generally reported, that the King has given up the Re-establishment Fund of 4 Sols per Livre. The General of the Capuchins, and a great Number of the Fryers of that Order, being met together here for some time past, opened their General Chapter the 15th Instant, at their Convent in the St. Honore Street. The King has on this Occasion defrayed the extraordinary Expences of these good Fathers, whose Number exceeds 2000, and their Chapter ended the 20th Instant. The Bishop of Frejus, Preceptor to the King, having determined to retire and end his Days in a Convent, set out with that Design on the 17th Instant from Versailles, and went to Courson, a Place four Leagues from hence, but M. de Basville with whom he lodged having sent Notice to Court, the King wrote a very tender Letter to the Bishop, which obliged him to come back to his Majesty on the 19th. The Bishop of Limoges has resigned his Bishoprick, which is sought for by M. de Breteuil, and the Archbishop of Arles has desired Leave to resign his Archbishoprick.
